PUBLIC PAYS TRIBUTE — An honor guard stands beside the coffin of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as he lies in state in New York City.

MacArthur Mourned

NEW YORK (AP)—A shriveled yet somehow majestic figure in simple sun tan uniform lay in a history-laden armory today, a magnet for Americans conscious of their heritage.

New Yorkers and visitors to the metropolis had an opportunity to view the body of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur and meditate on his 60 years of service to the republic.

From 10 a.m. until as far into the night as any mourners are in line, the 7th Regiment Armory, home of "the Silk Stocking Regiment," will remain open.

First there were to be religious services and a presidential tribute to the 84-year-old warrior who died Sunday in

Body Placed In New York Armory

Washington after three major operations.

Clergymen expected to pray at the casket in the armory on Park Avenue at 67th Street.

There were: Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York; the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Episcopal bishop of New York; the Rev. Terence J. Finley, rector of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church here and minister to the MacArthur family, and Rabbi Max Schenk, president of the New York Board of Rabbis.

In Washington President Johnson appointed Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson, commander of the 1st Army, as his personal representative to lay a wreath on the casket.

Army, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard enlisted men were drilled so they would be perfect in today's funeral events. A man from each service was to stand exactly two paces from the casket's corner, frozen at attention.

The regimental armory, where the simple casket of cold rolled steel, standard Army issue, was placed during the night on a black-draped catafalque, dates to 1880. It is a red brick building topped by parapets.

The 7th Regiment, which drills there, is 158 years old, an outgrowth of colonial militia. Its men, who must be "gentlemen" have won honors in World Wars I and II.

The body lay at the Universal Funeral Chapel, Lexington Avenue and 52nd Street, not far from the hotel apartment where MacArthur had lived the past 13 years. Only members of the family and intimate friends were permitted to view the body.

The widow, Jean MacArthur, and son, Arthur, 26, visited the funeral home for about five minutes.

The general was clad in the tropical uniform he wore in the Pacific war and during the Korean summers. In accordance with his custom, he wore none of his many medals, just the five stars of his rank.

As the body lay in repose, 19-gun salutes roared at many places—at West Point where he made the most brilliant scholastic record of all time, and later was superintendent; in New York, as well as other Army areas on the continent, and at selected points in the Pacific.

In Washington, leaders of Congress made arrangements for the body to lie in state in the

'Mac' Fired After Martin Released War Letter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. once made public a letter that ended the military career of a friend. The friend never mentioned the letter again, and neither did Martin, and the two remained close to the end.

The friend was General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, who died Sunday. In a reminiscent interview, Martin reviewed the events that swirled about the historic letter.

"I had wanted some ammunition to answer some of the Democratic arguments about the war in Korea," said Martin, "and so I wrote a letter to MacArthur asking for his views."

Martin, a Republican congressman from Massachusetts who was House minority leader then, received a reply from MacArthur. In the reply, MacArthur wrote Martin, "There is no substitute for victory," and he disagreed with President Harry S. Truman's decision to limit the war to Korea itself and to leave enemy bases in Communist China alone.

Asked For Views
"I had asked him for his views, and his reply did not say that his views were confidential, but I was not sure what to do," Martin said. "I walked around the block several times before I finally made up my mind. I decided that if he did not want his views known he would have said so."

Martin, in the midst of a House debate on the Korean War in April 1951, released the letter.

Two days after the letter was made public, Truman dismissed MacArthur as the American commander in the Far East, and the long military career of the general came to an end.

"I never had any regrets about making that letter public," Martin said. "I always figured that Truman wanted to fire MacArthur anyway. He did it all too quickly. He fired him two days after I released the letter. If it had not been the letter, Truman would have found some other excuse."

Letter Not Mentioned
"It is funny," the 79-year-old congressman continued. "MacArthur never mentioned that letter to me at all. And I never said a word about it, either. I always felt, let sleeping dogs lie."

Martin said he first met MacArthur when the general was Army chief of staff during the early 1930s. The late Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, then a Republican congressman brought them together.

"Mayor La Guardia had this apartment, and he liked to make chowder, and one day, he said to me, 'Come on over and have some chowder with General MacArthur,'" Martin recalled. "We saw each other from time to time. I would not say we were intimates. But we were friends. In 1952, I went to see him and suggested that he become a candidate for the Republican nomination for president."

"No," he replied to me. "I can't become a candidate. Bob

Despite Pressure for More State Spending

Rhodes Renews Promise Of No New Taxes for Ohio

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Brush-Moore Special Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio — A tax increase for Ohioans is not in the cards for the next two years and nine months, so far as Gov. James A. Rhodes is concerned.

Despite mounting pressure for increased state spending in areas such as public school education and mental health,

Rhodes vows he will remain wedded to his no-new-tax policy during the remaining 33 months of his first term in office.

He made that clear in an interview here during which he and his finance director, Richard L. Krabach, predicted Ohio will be on sound financial footing by Jan. 1 and will get by on existing revenues, which are exceeding budget estimates.

In his first policy statement since the clamor of a tax increase was renewed by the Ohio Education Association (OEA); Rhodes told Brush-Moore Newspapers:

"We have proved in our 15 months in office that we can give good government within the limitations of the state's income. We have said that we are opposed to new taxes. We have kept that commitment and the legislature has reinforced our commitment."

"Working together with the legislature, we shall continue to fulfill the commitment we have made to give good government within the limitations of our income without new taxes."

Thus Rhodes has, in effect, served notice on the yet-unselected 106th General Assembly that he expects it to ignore the OEA's demand for an increase in the sales tax from the present 3 per cent to 4 per cent.

OEA Gets Signatures
The OEA is rounding up signatures (it needs 100,000) on petitions to place a bill before the 106th Assembly to increase the tax and apply it to purchases beginning at 11 cents.

This, says the OEA, would produce $115 million a year to pay for increased teacher salaries and other modifications it proposes in the school foundation law. If the legislature fails to act, the OEA says it will put the proposal to a vote of the people.

No Estimate on Number Still Present

Russians Pulling Troops From Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informal sources said today the Soviet Union has been pulling its troops out of Cuba in considerable numbers.

U.S. officials confirmed this, but as usual declined to estimate how many Soviet military men still are in Cuba.

At the time of the Cuban missile crisis in October 1962 it was estimated that 22,000 Soviet troops, many of them in organized combat units, were in Cuba. A number of them were technical experts in Cuba. A number of them were technical experts in the long-range weapons and other war gear Moscow has poured into Cuba to make it the most powerful military nation in Latin America.

Last October U.S. officials indicated that a report that the Soviet troop presence had dropped to less than 7,600 was a pretty fair guess. Presumably the current figure is somewhere around 4,000.

The most recent formal statement by a U.S. government agency on the Soviet troop situation in Cuba came in a nine-word observation all but buried in a State Department report to the House Foreign Affairs Committee. It said: "Most Soviet troops have been withdrawn from the island."

McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to President Johnson on international security affairs, said in an interview on a radio and television show, ABC's "Issues and Answers," last Sunday that "there are very many fewer" Russian soldiers in Cuba now.

Board Delays Meeting On May Ballots

Because of a possible court suit to remove the name of John H. Glenn Jr. from the Democratic ballot as a candidate for senator, the County Election Board postponed a meeting it had planned Monday to act on printing of Republican ballots for the May 5 primary.

To avoid two meetings, yesterday's session was canceled until it can be determined if Albert H. Ball of Cleveland, one of three remaining candidates for the Democratic senatorial nomination, goes through with his plans to ask the Supreme Court to have Glenn's name removed out, Clerk Frank N. O'Hanlon said.

Yesterday's meeting had been scheduled originally to decide what action the board would take on the GOP primary ballots because of a pending court hearing on a would-be candidate's suit to have his name listed as an aspirant for an unexpired term on the Supreme Court.

The Court has indicated it will not hear the case filed by Louis Schwartz of Neville until April 15. However, the Dodge Printing Co. of Salem, which has the ballot printing contract, has advised the board it must start order to have ballots available in its presses rolling by April 10 for all 165 precincts.

The board is considering two alternatives. One proposal calls for printing the name of the disputed candidates on the ballot, then using adhesive stickers to black it out if his court fight is

Alaskans Aided By Many Groups

Relief Operation Termed Difficult

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Thirty-five refugees from the village of Portage, 40 miles southeast of here, are staying in a log lodge called "Diamond Jim's."

An Anchorage grade school is home for 266 Indians from Kodiak Island.

Thirty-eight villagers from Chenaena are living in a church at Cordova.

These are examples of how Alaskans and relief agencies are caring for those left homeless by the earthquake and tidal waves of March 27.

Disaster workers call it one of the most unusual and difficult relief operations of recent times. Faced with poor communications and great distances, relief forces have relied on helicopters, planes, trucks, autos and foot travel to bring aid.

Money and other contributions have poured in from around the country. A 7-year-old New Jersey boy offered an Easter basket. Portland lumbermen donated a shipload of lumber and longshoremen offered to load it without pay. The Japanese government and Pope Paul VI each sent $10,000. The Methodist Council of Bishops declared April 5 Alaska Earthquake Appeal Sunday.

Red Cross and Salvation Army spokesmen said further shipments of food and clothing right now would only cause transportation, storage and handling problems. Instead, they said, Alaskans need cash with which to repair, rebuild and replace.

Waskivich's body, struck by the bumper and front end, flew up onto the hood. Kelley, who authorities said was moving from 35 to 40 miles an hour, slowed so the youth would not fall off.

Salary Schedule Adopted

United Board Hires Building Architect

A school architect was hired, along with certificated and non-certificated personnel, when the United Local Board of Education met Monday evening at the school.

The architectural firm of Smith, Buchanan and Smith of Youngstown was chosen by board members from four firms interviewed, to serve the district in its future building program.

Chester Brautigam, superintendent, will meet with the architect Thursday to begin preliminary planning for future expansion.

The non-certificated personnel were employed at a new salary schedule in an effort to keep employees' salaries in line with those of persons in comparable positions in surrounding communities.

Certificated personnel, including teachers and administrators, were also hired on a new salary schedule. Mrs. Willard Cope and Mrs. Joseph Fair were granted continuing contracts.

A NEW SEVEN - PERIOD day, which has four 45-minute periods in the morning, a 30-minute lunch, and three 60-minute afternoon periods, was approved. It was pointed out that, with the schedule, the high school will be able to handle better the crowded conditions and to permit a better manipulation of the curriculum to improved individual scheduling.

As a result of the discussion of the five and one-tenth mill renewal, which will be placed before the voters in May, the board decided to ask Mrs. Jos-

2nd W. Branch Student Killed

Ed Waskivich Hit By Auto Had Won School Track Event Earlier

A sophomore track star won for West Branch High in the 880-yard dash at North Lima Monday afternoon. Four hours later he was dead.

Edward John Waskivich Jr., 16, of Hutzley's Trailer Court, a mile east of Alliance on Route 62, was fatally injured by a car at 7:36 p.m. as he walked home from the high school with a companion, happy over his victory.

Authorities said he was struck from behind by a 1955 Chevrolet sedan operated on Route 173 just north of Route 62 by Baltzcr Kline Kelley, 54, of RD 2, Beloit.

The football and track athlete was walking with another young athlete, John Morrison, 16, of RD 2, Beloit, who had also taken part in the North Lima meet.

Wore Dark Coat
The boys were walking south on the right side of the road as Kelley approached in the same direction in the gathering darkness. Kelley told Smith Township Constable Herbert Bollia and Mahoning County Deputy Sheriff Arthur Eells that a truck was coming toward him and he was sandwiched between the boys and the northbound vehicle.

If Goldwater wins California's 86 votes, they would boost him to a commanding lead on the first convention ballot. While Goldwater might be difficult to head off, favorite sons and other candidates appear likely to take out enough votes to deny him a quick nomination.

Goldwater has indicated that if he can't win the nomination—and he doesn't concede anything on this score—he would be more inclined to throw his weight behind Nixon than any other candidate.

He has talked vaguely about Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania but now seems less interested in him. The Rockefeller people probably could accept Scranton, too, but so far the Pennsylvania governor hasn't sparked major national support.

Lodge-Nixon Race

California Primary Sparks Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The faint outlines of what might become a shadow contest between Henry Cabot Lodge and Richard M. Nixon are beginning to appear in the California presidential primary campaign.

Neither Lodge, the U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, nor Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential nominee, is on the ballot in the June 2 contest.

But one or the other could become the eventual beneficiary of the outcome of the battle between Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the state's 86 presidential nominating votes. Former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen also is on the ballot.

If Rockefeller wins the primary most of the Republican pros think this will keep the New York governor in the running but will fall short of convincing the convention he ought to be the nominee.

If it becomes apparent that Rockefeller can't make the grade, the belief is mounting that a majority of any delegation committed to him would be likely to gravitate to Lodge, particularly if the 1960 vice presidential nominee wins the May 15 Oregon primary.

If Goldwater wins California's 86 votes, they would boost him to a commanding lead on the first convention ballot. While Goldwater might be difficult to head off, favorite sons and other candidates appear likely to take out enough votes to deny him a quick nomination.

Second Forum On Education Attracts 125

"We can't jump on all the bandwagons, but we had better board the train!"

This was the exhortation of Miss Ruth Hudson, elementary supervisor of the State Department of Education, who spoke before 125 people at the Board of Education's second public forum Monday night at Reilly School.

Miss Hudson declared that the "whole American educational system is inadequate" and used the "bandwagon" statement to back up the need for improved school programs. She made her points to set the stage for a panel discussion on the ungraded primary and intermediate levels in Salem.

Advantages of the ungraded plan were spotlighted by a panel of teachers and administrators. Major of these were: (1) extensive records are kept on each child, a classification sheet traveling with each child through the system, (2) a child never repeats work or fails, (3) parent-teacher conferences, a key part of the ungraded plan, are highly valuable.

Miss Hudson advised the group to not "wait for trouble to hold conference."

"The parents and teachers should work toward one goal—the welfare of the child," she said. She added that learning must be an uninterrupted, continuous process.

After concern was expressed over the current report card used, Supt. of Schools Paul E. Smith indicated that a revamping of the type of report may be in the offing.

The panel agreed that the superior child can be challenged through research and resource material and by having numerous supplemental books

New Gas Chamber At Dog Pound In Use By County

LISBON — The newly-erected Columbiana County dog pound's gas chamber was used for the first time Friday, destroying 20 dogs.

The chamber is a six - by - 10-foot cement block addition to the pound, which is located at the Columbiana County Home, about three miles west of Lisbon.

County Commissioners are expected to enter into a contract in the near future with a Cleveland man who has agreed to pick up the dogs' bodies twice a week at a monthly charge of $25.

Salem members of the county humane society met Jan. 28 with the commissioners and requested that the county build the execution chamber for the animals. The group said that selling the dogs to an out-of-state collector, as had been done in the past, was illegal.

Russell Reichenbaugh of North Georgetown, county dog warden, said that state law requires the pound to hold a stray dog three days before destroying it.

LISBON — A suit for $25,000 for personal injuries allegedly stemming from a fall from a ferris wheel was filed in common pleas court Monday by Betty Mae Shambaugh in behalf of her daughter, Brenda Lee Shambaugh, age 6.

Lake Marvin Association, a corporation, Mercer Welding Inc., and Merco Industries Inc., both of Canfield, were named defendants in the suit.

She claims that park was negligent, along with two companies, who made the equipment, and that the fall caused her daughter to suffer internal injuries.

Freedom to Criticize

A report by Jack Bell of the Associated Press that a chill has descended on foreign policy communication between the White House and Republican leaders in Congress obviously must have been based on direct word from Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

It is authentic. Even if President Johnson pulled the rug from under the report by inviting the two Republican leaders to come for dinner and spend the night it would still be a fact they have been out of touch with the White House since the Panama crisis last January.

This is the way it should be. Under ordinary circumstances, spokesmen for the loyal opposition to the party in power always should be free to criticize at will.

Except in the most critical times, leaders of the party out of power never should be "sucked in" on foreign policy decisions they may want to criticize later.

This is equally true of both parties.

Also equally true the fact both parties will turn every adversity to campaign account if they get a chance. There was an example of this in the 1960 campaign.

The Eisenhower administration had had trouble enough in Cuba without John F. Kennedy's allegations that Richard M. Nixon as vice president had been soft on Cuban policy.

At the same time, Sen. Kennedy was thumping the Eisenhower administration for being too hard about Quemoy and Matsu. He scored heavily on these foreign policy issues, one of them frivolous and contrived and the other sure to haunt him if he won, as it did in the Bay of Pigs incident and the Cuban missile crisis.

In the 1964 campaign, President Johnson will be assailed on every point of dissatisfaction with foreign policy, from Cuba to South Viet Nam, from Berlin to dissatisfaction with conditions in Latin America. Sen. Dirksen, Ren. Halleck and their GOP associates should give White House barleys on foreign policy a wide berth from now on. They should keep their hands untied.

It looks as if they could count on President Johnson to help them.

No More Danbury Hatters

The last of the hat-finishing shops in Danbury, Conn., has shut down—the end of an era.

The Danbury hatters were to become famous in an unexpected way. When their union tried to force a closed shop on the hat industry at the turn of the century, the Loewe & Co. management sued for damages incurred during a strike and won.

Under the Sherman Antitrust Act, triple damages were collected on a claim of actual damages that started at $80,000 and finally were trimmed down to $74,000. The triple damages and costs made the unionized hatters liable for $232,000.

Who Watches the Cats?

While the cats are busy watching mice, who watches the cats?

Congress is always alert for signs of fast shuffles going on among private citizens and public administrators.

When presidential assistant Sherman Adams was apprehended by Democrats during the Eisenhower administration with only a shred of the wheeling and dealing evidence stacked up against the young man who rose from page boy to Senate majority secretary and multimillionaire in a few short years, he went back to his native New Hampshire in a fall from grace.

BOBBY BAKER, though he resigned, has no more fallen from grace than he has fallen afoul of the law. He has not been accused of any wrong-doing by his former employers.

It is unlikely any law will be proposed to prevent a recurrence of what he was able to do with a combination of his native wit and his official position.

It is as though Bobby Baker's only wrong-doing consisted of having been caught in a position that embarrassed his political patrons. There is no sign that he, himself, is embarrassed, or that someone like him will not be back wheeling and dealing again as soon as public interest shifts.

A way of life regarded as routine among the insiders who shared the goodies shoved their way by Bobby Baker raised questions only when outsiders caught a glimpse of it. The insiders never had questioned it.

MEMBERS of Congress who did business with Bobby Baker saw nothing wrong about him. They see nothing wrong about him now.

Given the same circumstances, they would do the same thing all over again.

That is the question raised by Bobby Baker and all others like him: Who watches the cats while the cats are busy watching the mice.

Nobody.

Carry On...

By Truman Twill

I was explaining to a group of high school students the other day why I think Johnny, who can't read, can't write, either.

It's for the same reason. Johnny—and Susy—haven't had enough practice. Johnny can make all the moves on a basketball floor by second nature. He has practiced pivots, dribbling, shooting and jumping until he can do them in his sleep.

Susy can do the writhings of the latest dance craze without a second thought. Or perhaps her specialty is baton twirling, which she practices by the hour.

But students do not practice reading and writing. They do not develop these basic skills of civilization because they are not made to develop them. Except for bookish students and grinds, they have no strong natural inclination to work at these things on their own time.

ONE CONSEQUENCE is that colleges must give courses in "remedial English," which is academic jargon for teaching illiterates how to read and write. Even these courses are not doing the job, because Johnny and Susy are out of puppyhood by college and you can't teach old dogs new tricks.

The rest of the thought I wanted to share with my high school listeners is that reading and writing are separate arts, also speaking. Yet because all three deal with the use of words there is a misconception that all three are the same thing—that good speakers will be good writers and good writers will be good speakers.

It's not that way. Good readers may be terrible speakers and writers. Writers rarely are good speakers. And some of the most atrocious writing is done by golden-tongued orators.

I recall seeing a manuscript written by a public figure noted for his ability to charm birds to come out of trees with the spoken word. I had heard this Demosthenes perform; he was a gasser.

But what he had written, though it might sound wonderful, read terrible. Anyone who has suffered through a speech by a writer who lacked the gift of spoken gab knows there's no cross-over in that respect, either.

WHAT CAN BE done about it by those who might want to do something? It's as simple as practicing basketball. To read and write, do it over and over until all the necessary reflexes have been conditioned—until read and written words are no longer unfamiliar.

Otherwise, writing especially, will be as awkward and stilted as a spinster playing kissing games at a party—or a non-reader stumbling through a passage of prose as if he never had seen it before. As a one-time mayor of New York City put it, reading a Fourth of July speech: "And so I say to you, in the spirit of One-Seven-Seventy-Six, carry on..."

Look, No Hands!

Red Chinese Agents

By VICTOR RIESEL

Peking's secret agents are scouring Puerto Rico for recruits to come to the Communist Chinese mainland. They would go not only for guerrilla training but for a series of personal appearances throughout China and Southeast Asia to denounce the United States and melodramatically accuse the FBI and CIA of being colonial "terrorist" forces.

One tiny Puerto Rican contingent has already been flown over by the Peking apparatus. True, they are only a few, but they are the first, and Peking is satisfied that it has made a heavy propaganda profit on its investment.

There have been banner waving airport crowds to greet the visitors, demonstrations at which huge throngs were gathered to cheer their denunciations of the U.S. as a murderous nation, and international broadcasts by the Peking radio calling for Puerto Rican "freedom from American imperialism."

THE CHINESE Communists never fritter away hard currency, nor do they waste the moments of their 70-year-old national leader, Mao Tze-tung. So this project must have high priority, for Mao did give the visiting Puerto Ricans an audience replete with photographers and the promise of a long, comfortable tour.

This lush trip will take the Puerto Rican group through South China and finally into North Viet Nam for broadcasts against our allies and our own forces in South Viet Nam.

At the head of the Puerto Rican band is a fiery couple who give the impression that Castro-like troops already are in the mountain ridges at El Yunque awaiting the chance to attack U. S. forces and seize the island, as the bearded ones took Cuba five years ago.

To us, on this side of the world, this may have a musical comedy touch. But those Asians listening to the histrionic couple—who identify themselves as Marta Sanchez Olmeda and Marciso Rabell Martinez—got a vivid impression of civil war, raptured towns and street fighting in Puerto Rico.

THE GORY analogy of such an embattled Puerto Rico with the Saigon-Washington alliance which is fighting against the Viet Cong is not lost on the tens of thousands of Chinese and Vietnamese who are herded into meetings to hear Marta Sanchez and Narciso Rabell.

Although the actual date of their departure from Puerto Rico for Peking via Cuba is not clear, it is certain they were in the Chinese Communist capital as recently as March 20. That day they addressed a mass rally arranged by their hosts, the All-China Students' Federation.

The visiting couple were the star speakers and the lady is apparently the more fiery of the two. After the thousands finished cheering her introduction, she took the mike and opened her sp.

"Good evening, comrades! In the name of the University Federation of Independence (of Puerto Rico) I want to express my affectionate and revolutionary greeting and at the same time thank the great president Mao Tze-tung for the honor he granted us in receiving us and holding an amiable chat with us. It is an honor for me to talk to you and mark a date of heroic meaning and remembrance for all the people of Puerto Rico....

SHE HARANGUED the crowd with talk of past revolts on the island and with the promise of future upheavals. She spoke with regret of the failure of the Puerto Rican Nationalist party to kill then president Harry Truman and bemoaned the fact that they "were able only to wound a congressman."

After the mass meeting, the couple's host, Chang Yin An, vice president of the All-China Students' Federation, hailed them as anti-U.S. heroes and suggested they hand out autographs, accept souvenirs and join in the singing of Communist and Puerto Rican folk songs.

The Latin American section of the Peking foreign office is reported to have considered this a significant breakthrough and now has its agents searching for additional recruits—but this time from inside Puerto Rican labor unions. The best Peking contacts have been made by the Cubans who, of course, are less conspicuous on the island.

The Castro apparatus already has some support and even succeeded in convincing a few unionists to go to a Communist labor parley in Colombia. The same men were also invited to Havana.

AT THE SAME time, there is constant proselytizing on the island by a clandestine Communist movement which has some 400 to 500 members. Numerically this is just about enough to seize a bank of telephone booths. But to interpret this development merely in terms of numbers is political naivete.

The Chinese Communist recruiting is concentrating on student and labor circles in an effort to find even a handful of "shock forces" who are willing to give their whole lives, as some Nationalists already have done, for the "cause."

It would take only a few hundred rioters to force counter-police or military action. And the first shot would be heard around the Communist world. The United States would be accused of shooting down university youngsters and labor men in an imperialist effort to control their colony. The Communists would make it look like a Khartoum or a Calcutta.

So I offer this report to prove that any such bloody developments will be contrived and rehearsed. They will not be spontaneous nor will they reflect the hearts and loyalty of the people of Puerto Rico.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My sister gave us an attractive tavern-type wall clock, a charming set of Dickens characters and other nice gifts.

Recently we completed our recreation room which is in the basement. Last night my sister and her husband were among the guests we invited to a party. She called me upstairs "to have a few words."

In scalding language I was told she did NOT give me those beautiful gifts to decorate "a basement." She ended up saying I had terrible taste and then criticized every room in the house. To top off her speech she made some unflattering remarks about my husband and released venom which must have been stored up for 25 years.

Does a person who offers a gift have the right to tell the receiver where or how the gift should be used?—COLUMBUS.

Dear Columbus: The giver has the right to expect a thank you—nothing more.

Now would be a fitting time to tell your sister you appreciate her thoughtfulness but in the future her good wishes will be sufficient—and she can please skip the gifts.

Browbeaten Wife

Dear Ann: Last night I got the shock of my life. I have been married (happily, I thought) for 17 years. After dinner my husband said, "Well, you have used me for a meal ticket long enough. The kids are all in school now and you have no excuse for sitting around home. I want you to go to work."

Ann, I'm 37 years old and have no special training. We are not in debt. I keep the house in good order, I cook and bake and enjoy being at home. I don't want to go to work. The fact is, I'd hate it.

Our three children like to have me here when they come from school, and I want to be here.

Am I selfish, as my husband says? He has made me feel terribly guilty. Tell me if you believe I should go to work to please him.—L.S.M.

Dear L.S.M.: I think your husband is going through the change of life. Some men (as well as women) undergo personality alterations when they hit middle age.

Suggest that he see a doctor. In the meantime, forget about going to work. A woman who is raising three children and keeping house is pulling her share of the load.

She doesn't need to bring in a paycheck to be considered as equal partner in the marriage. And you can tell him I said so.

Free Speech

By DAVID LAWRENCE

All over the country there is an impression that picketing for civil rights and demonstrations in restaurants and hotels are just the exercise of free speech and that this is protected by the Constitution itself.

Yet many of the picketing disturbances recorded in the press in the past few months have been a direct violation of one of the little-noticed decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The highest court in the land unanimously upheld in the year 1950 the concept that industrial picketing in and of itself is more than free speech "since it involves patrol of a particular locality and since the very presence of a picket line may induce action of one kind or another, quite irrespective of the nature of the ideas which are being disseminated."

The Supreme Court further ruled that there is no right to picket in order to achieve racial balance or to eliminate racial imbalance.

This very principle applies today not only to those persons who have by various activities been interfering with attendance at public schools in an effort to achieve racial balance but also to those who have been picketing stores and industrial plants in order to bring about the employment of a higher proportion of Negroes than have previously been employed.

THE SUPREME COURT, in the controlling case on this issue, described a situation in a California housing project where a group picketed certain stores and demanded that, "as white clerks quit or were transferred," Negroes be hired "until the proportion of Negro clerks to white clerks approximated the proportion of Negro to white customers."

The court noted that at the time of the dispute about 50 per cent of the customers of the store were Negroes, and then added:

"Upon refusal of this demand and in order to compel compliance, the... store was systematically patrolled by pickets carrying placards stating that Lucky Stores, Inc., refused to hire Negro clerks in proportion to Negro customers."

The high court thereupon quoted with approval from the opinion of the California State Supreme Court, which said:

"The fact that those seeking such discrimination do not demand that it be practiced as to all employees of a particular employer diminishes in no respect the unlawfulness of their purpose. They would, to the extent of the fixed proportion, make the right to work for Lucky Stores, Inc., dependent not on fitness for the work nor on an equal right of all, regardless of race, to compete in an open market, but, rather, on membership in a particular race."

THE SUPREME COURT of the United States then made this significant declaration of its own:

"These considerations are most pertinent in regard to a population made up of so many diverse groups as ours. To deny to California the right to ban picketing in the circumstances of this case would mean that there could be no prohibition of the pressure of picketing to secure proportional employment on ancestral grounds of Hungarians in Cleveland, of Poles in Buffalo, of Germans in Milwaukee, of Portuguese in New Bedford, of Mexicans in San Antonio, of the numerous minority groups in New York, and so on through the whole gamut of racial and religious concentrations in various cities.

"Sates may well believe that such constitutional sheltering would inevitably encourage use of picketing to compel employment on the basis of racial discrimination.

"In disallowing such picketing states may act under the belief that otherwise community tensions and conflicts would be exacerbated. The differences in cultural traditions instead of adding flavor and variety to our common citizenry might well be hardened into hostilities by leave of law.

"The Constitution does not demand that the element of communication in picketing prevail over the mischief furthered by its use in these situations."

THIS PARTICULAR case—known as Hughes V. Superior Court of California—dealt solely with the 14th Amendment, which requires that each state give equal protection of the laws to all citizens.

The same principle could be applied with respect to picketing in the event that Congress should pass the pending bill that would prohibit racial discrimination in employment in businesses affected by interstate commerce.

The Supreme Court said that, while "picketing when not in numbers that of themselves carry a threat of violence may be a lawful means to a lawful end," there is a distinction between picketing to promote discrimination and picketing against discrimination.

The Supreme Court, moreover, indicated that action could be taken against "compulsive feature inherent in picketing, beyond the aspect of mere communication as an appeal to reason."

Yet in recent months the American people have been told that picketing is just the exercise of free speech or the right of petition and that, when the sodes which result in violence are arrested, they are being held persons who participate in epiphenomena there are many civil unlawfully.

It's clear that the highest court has ruled otherwise. Ap-rights advocates who believe in "the law of the land" only when it can be invoked to serve their own particular purposes.

'Rooster-Pecked'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Just as many men today are henpecked so some wives are dominated by their husbands.

They are, so to speak, "rooster-pecked."

While this flies into the face of the comfortable feminine theory that this has become a world of women, run by women, for women, it is nevertheless inescapably true.

Here and there landmark men still survive who are able to assert their authority over women—and I am not speaking merely of male hairdressers. I mean husbands who are able to dominate their wives, usually without the ladies in question realizing it.

It takes a great deal of Machiavellian cunning for a man to remain master in his own split-level castle in these times, but it can be done—and it is being done.

How can a wife tell if she is "rooster-pecked?" Well, her clever mate probably has outwitted her in the battle of matrimonial bossdom if—

He insists that she handle all the money in the family, then, when the household budget gets out of balance, instead of upbraiding her he turns upon her a face of insufferable forgiveness.

Although she is mistress of the purse, somehow he winds up at the end of the year with more new clothes than she does.

He's the one who takes the kids to the circus, but she's the one who spans them when they need it.

She fixes the leaky faucets and repairs the vacuum cleaner because he has convinced her that he is, after all, just a bewildered small boy who never learned how to be handy around the house.

Every time he confesses helplessly, "Honey, I don't know what I'd do without you," she feels a fierce maternal urge to protect him even more.

He served her breakfast in bed the day after they came back from their honeymoon, but managed to botch the eggs and toast so badly that she has been getting up early to fix breakfast for them every day since.

She goes to the P-TA meeting alone, because he brought home some work from the office that simply has to be done. After she leaves, he turns on the television set and watches the night baseball game.

He assures her so constantly what a wonderful wife and mother she is that she goes through life feeling guilt-ridden because she can't think up more ways to please him.

There, my friends, you have a husband-dominated wife.

Every good woman loves being ruled by a man—just so he's smart enough not to let her realize it.

How wise investors choose stocks & bonds

You may find, when you finish reading these examples of wise and unwise investing, that you're one of the wise. Or maybe not. Let's see:

Unwise: You race to buy at the drop of a tip.

Wise: You look behind the tip for facts—and often find only rumor. For you, facts are what count. You've heard that many an investor has found trouble because he accepted a rumor at face value.

Unwise: You let your hopes run away with your judgment.

Wise: You have in mind, perhaps, building a second income from dividends. Or giving your money a chance to grow with American business. But you know that stocks, like other property, can tumble in price as well as climb. That some companies may make no profit, pay no dividends. So with your broker's help you check a company's earnings and dividends and try to decide what its prospects are. And you consider bonds for your particular situation.

Unwise: You invest all the cash you can scrape together.

Wise: You make certain you can pay your living expenses regularly. That emergencies are provided for. Because you know that funds for investing should not be drawn from money required for necessities. You may, in fact, be using the Monthly Investment Plan to acquire stock by investing with as little as $40 every three months ($3.08 a week).

Unwise: You don't bother to seek knowledgeable advice.

Wise: You proceed with care. You know, for example, that a broker in a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange is required to meet Exchange requirements when he becomes a Registered Representative. And that, while Member Firms differ in many ways, they are all subject to the guiding rules of the Exchange. Their judgment is not infallible, of course—no one's is. But they can give you important help as you make your decisions with your goals in mind.

Unwise: You feel you can't benefit from reading booklets like "INVESTMENT FACTS."

Wise: You will read with pleasure this useful booklet which gives the records of more than 400 common stocks that have paid a cash dividend every three months for 20 years or more. Plus much additional helpful information. Wouldn't you be wise to send for your free copy now?

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Health Questions And Answers

I stated recently that a hearing aid was of no benefit to persons with nerve deafness. I spoke, of course, of complete nerve deafness.

Dr. Brandstadt

Some benefit may be had from a properly fitted hearing aid in persons with incomplete nerve deafness. It is also true that incomplete deafness is much more common than complete deafness. Many but not all persons with incomplete nerve deafness can be helped, but the guidance of an ear specialist should be sought to obtain the proper acoustical appliance.

Q—For two years my doctor had me take digitalis. Now he has me take Pentraline. What is it for?

A—Pentraline is a combination of pentaerythritol to dilate the blood vessels of your heart; reserpine, a tranquilizer; and a barbiturate. This combination is especially effective in the treatment of angina pectoris.

Q—I have a slightly enlarged prostate. Would eating citrus fruit or drinking coffee or tea make it worse? It seems that when I eat or drink these items I have to urinate right away.

A—Enlargement of the prostate is usually associated with increased irritability of the bladder hence a desire to urinate frequently. Any fluids taken into your system will increase the delivery of urine to your bladder and make you want to urinate. This will not aggravate the enlargement of your prostate. But, when you get tired of the inconvenience, you may wish to have a part of your prostate removed.

Beaver Local Seeking New School Head

Applications are being accepted to fill the vacancy of executive head of Beaver Local School District, created Monday night after the resignation of Dr. George VanHorne was accepted by the Board of Education.

Dr. VanHorne, executive head for the past nine years, will become head of the Department of Education at Geneva College in Beaver Falls this autumn. He will replace Dr. Leonard S. Duncan who is retiring.

The 46-year-old Beaver administrator was named to the post in 1955 as the first and only executive head of the local district has known. He came from Maine after he had been an instructor at Hunter College in New York. He has his degrees from Boston University and Columbia University. He was in the third year of a five-year contract.

The board is seeking a replacement for the administrator to open the new 1964-65 season which, the group agreed last night, would open on Sept. 8, the day following Labor Day. School had been opening earlier in the past.

In other action, the board named four school enumerators for the May census. They are Jo Ann Fisher and Pauline Apple, Elkrun Township; Mrs. Virginia Snyder, Madison Township; and Janice Walters of Middleton Township.

a traffic fatality due to a fractured skull and compound fractures of the legs.

Morrison leaped clear of the Kelley car Kelley told police he couldn't see the youths. The victim was reportedly wearing a dark trench coat.

The Morrison youth, a sophomore who competes in the discus, told police he "felt the lights of a car coming from behind" and moved out of the way. He did not know where his companion was at the time the car struck, he said.

Morrison said they had intended to stop at Thomas' Service Station at Westville to get something to drink before going home.

Waskivich's death is the second traffic fatality from among the West Branch student body this year. Four pedestrian deaths have been registered this year in Smith Township. William Moler, 16, another West Branch student, was hit and killed by a car on Rt. 62 Jan. 18 after leaving a school dance.

Llewellyn Thompson, West Branch track coach, said the meet with East Palestine scheduled for today has been cancelled due to the youth's death.

Waskivich had been vastly improving in his running. Thompson said. Yesterday he won in his specialty, the 880-yard run, in a time of 2 minutes, 20 seconds, to win this event for the Warriors who lost the meet 59-49. Two minutes, six seconds is exceedingly fast for scholastic competition.

Principal Ramon Scott said Waskivich was a superior student and was being counted on to boost the fortunes of the upcoming Warrior grid squad.

Two Turkish Cypriots Murdered

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Greek Cypriot police today condemned an attempt to murder four Turkish Cypriots, blamed on other Greek Cypriots. Two Turks were killed, one was wounded and the fourth missing.

A police spokesman denounced as "an abominable crime" the shooting Monday night, which threatened to touch off a new wave of fighting between the Greek and Turkish communities.

Dr. Fazil Kuchuk, Turkish Cypriot vice president of the island, charged that Greek Cypriots marched the four Turks into a field outside a Nicosia city gate, shot them with rifles and left them for dead.

Kuchuk, who based his accusation on the survivor's account, said he believed the shooting was in reprisal for the slaying of a Greek Cypriot auxiliary policeman in Nicosia Sunday.

Headquarters of the U.N. peacekeeping force said four Turkish islanders were shot and the incident was being investigated by the U.N. commander, Indian Gen. Prem Singh Gyani.

British U.N. troops found the two bodies shortly after the survivor, Husnu Hassan, crawled to a British radio station and yelled for help.

Hassan, shot three times, told Turkish officials he and the others were seized by Greeks when they tried to drive a van into Nicosia through Famagusta gate.

He said the Greeks beat them with rifle butts and screamed, "You're going to die, Turkish dogs!" He said his captors laughed as they opened fire.

No one has estimated how many were left homeless. The Red Cross says preliminary surveys indicate nearly 10,000 persons lost at least household items. The agency says the disaster destroyed an estimated 390 or more homes, did major damage to 390 others and minor damage to 580.

In Washington Monday, Gov. William Egan estimated damage amounted to at least $750 million.

The biggest problems of all—finding jobs for the jobless and permanent homes for the homeless—are ahead.

not successful.

The other would leave two blank spaces under the names of the Supreme Court candidates seeking the unexpired term ending Dec. 31, 1966. If the suit is successful, his name would be added to the ballot.

If Schwartz did not win, one of the blank spots would be blacked out, leaving the other to comply with Ohio law which requires at least one blank space in any event.

If Ball goes through with his proposed court action, it would further complicate the board's problems since the Salem printing firm already has completed printing the Democratic primary ballots, O'Hanlon said.

HALT AUTO FIRE

A short in the wiring caused minor damage to the auto owned by C. R. Christen of Beloit at 9:21 a.m. this morning. The fire department reported that Christen, driving through town noticed the fire and called the fire department from 757 W. Pershing St.

Rhodes

education plank to his 1962 campaign platform, says the fact that demands have been made does not mean they are justified. He isn't saying they aren't, but he said the needs should be determined through legislative studies.

Up to Legislature

He said the facts will be laid before the legislature next year. But he insisted he would make no tax recommendation to the legislature regardless of what the studies show.

In his policy statement, Rhodes said:

"There have always been powerful lobbyists making threats and innuendoes against people who will not raise taxes. The governor and the General Assembly must stand between the taxpayers and the tax spenders. Sometimes this is the only road to travel."

"Today we have the State of Ohio on a sound financial basis and we shall keep it there. We shall consider every need of every group brought to our attention and, in accordance with our sacred duty, we shall judge the needs fairly, conscientiously and honestly."

Report Deficit Down

Rhodes and Krabach say that an $83 million deficit, made up primarily of unpaid bills for liquor the state purchased for sale in its stores, existed in January 1963 when they took office.

They said that deficit will be $13 million by July 1 and the state will be in the black by Jan. 1, 1965.

The governor said his administration "has worked hard to eliminate extravagance, waste, red tape, duplication and triplication in state government and we will continue in this endeavor."

Revenues Top Expectations

Although there is little agreement around the Statehouse on how much ahead of expectations state revenues are running, Finance Director Krabach pictures it like this:

"As of the end of February, our general fund revenues—the ones available to us—were .6 of 1 per cent ahead of our estimates." He said that translates into $2.5 million in un earmarked funds.

He said figures from State Auditor Robert Tracy, which show the state is $40.5 million ahead of last year in tax collections, include earmarked funds which the state can't spend for anything else.

"We might have a big surplus in highway funds," he said, "but we can't use this for education."

Patrol To Get Boost

Krabach said the size and recipients of proposed "selective" salary increases July 1 have not been determined. But he indicated the highway patrol (starting salary $330 a month and mental hygiene caseworkers ($264 a month) will be among the beneficiaries.

He said the raises will go to departments which are experiencing "a high personnel turnover" and those in which employees are shouldering additional work because of payroll cuts.

Krabach said 4,735 employees have been dropped from the state payroll since January 1963. He admitted, however, that the figure is never constant and that because demands fluctuate there have been months in which employment has actually exceeded the January level by 200 or more.

But he said the over-all reduction has saved the state "roughly $25.5 million."

The size of the July pay increases will have to be determined by a study showing "how much we'll have to pay to keep them (employees) here or how much is enticing them to leave," Krabach said.

Training Costs High

He said the cost of training replacements in the mental health field "more than offsets the cost of a salary increase that would stabilize employment."

But like Rhodes, Krabach says he thinks the state can handle these expenses without a tax increase.

The finance director said he fears Ohio would "run into the law of diminishing returns" if it boosted the sales tax. He said a tax increase could put a brake on spending and cut into state revenue.

"That's why the federal government reduced taxes," he said, "to stimulate the economy and get more money in circulation."

Ray Oesch paced the Bankers with 22 points. Bob Hutton netted 16 and Bob Carbaugh chipped in with 15. George Johnson sparked the Canton Saxons with 16 markers. Joe Pukansky chalked up 13.

Bill Raybuck hit on a last second shot in the first overtime to give Pohlod a one-point victory over Johnny's Ashland.

100-Lap Race Will Feature Canfield Speedway Opener

Canfield Speedway officials last week began to groom the quarter-mile track for the 1964 inaugural stock car race on Saturday night, April 18.

The ARCA new cars, 1963 and 1964 models who formerly raced under MARC, will open the 1964 campaign at Canfield with a five-race program. A 100 - lap race will highlight the opener.

ARCA has just completed a tour of the Southwest and races in Huntington, W. Va., on Sunday, April 11. They will be in Louisville, Ky., on April 12 and then move into Canfield for the April 18 lidlifter.

Earl Balmer of Louisville, Ky., has found the 1964 Plymouth to his liking and has won two races in ARCA already this season. Balmer won in San Antonio on March 12 and repeated a week later in Corpus Christi. However, Ernie Derr of Keokuk, Iowa, wheeled a 1964 Dodge into the top spot in Houston during the Southwest tour.

The 1964 Plymouth proved the car to beat this year by winning the big Daytona 500 classic this year.

Jack Bowsher of Springfield, Ohio, however is beginning where he left off last year. Bowsher was the MARC 1963 champ and he has placed third in the three events in his 1964 Ford.

Another hot runner this year is Jim Cushman of Columbus

LA Whips Yankees 5-1; Howard Collects Two Hits; Cards Lose

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Howard, baseball's reluctant dragon, is breathing fire again and that means that Walt Alston, manager of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, can breathe just a little bit easier.

Howard, whose hulking 6-foot-7 form was conspicuously absent from the Dodger training camp for most of the spring, turned up last week and the flimsy Los Angeles attack hasn't been the same since.

The giant-sized outfielder stroked two more hits Monday night as Los Angeles whipped the New York Yankees 5-1 in an exhibition game. It brought his spring production to six hits in 15 appearances for a .400 average.

Personal problems kept Howard out of the Dodger camp until last week and without his bat the Dodger attack was somewhat on the skimpy side.

Howard's lifetime slugging average of .512, tops among the Dodgers and ninth best among active players, adds a needed punch to Alston's cast.

Howard's hitting shared the spotlight with Sandy Koufax' pitching. The Dodger ace hurled six strong innings, allowing five hits and striking out six.

Bo Belinsky, the Los Angeles Angel southpaw, continues to impress in the Angels' Palm Springs, Calif. camp. He won his second game of the spring Monday, allowing only three hits in six innings as Los Angeles defeated the Cleveland Indians 7-1.

Roger Craig, who had trouble getting runs with the New York Mets, is running into the same difficulty with the St. Louis Cardinals. Craig, the victim of 12 shutouts last season, shared pitching chores with Ray Sadecki and Bob Humphries and the Cards wound up on the short end of a 1-0 verdict against Baltimore.

Elsewhere, Ken Johnson of Houston pitched six perfect innings but lost when Milwaukee bunched four hits for two runs in the second inning and a 2-1 victory. Manny Mota socked a grand slam homer, highlighting a six-run Pittsburgh rally and a 12-4 victory over Minnesota.

Kansas City lost its fifth straight as Detroit rallied for six runs in the last two innings and an 8-7 victory. Willie Mays clubbed two doubles and a triple as San Francisco topped the Chicago Cubs 9-7. The Chicago White Sox nipped the Mets 2-1 and Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia 5-3.

Salem Track Squad Opens With Tigers

Salem High School will try to get its track season underway today, when it entertains Wellsville at Reilly Stadium at 4 p.m.

The initial meet last Friday, with Campbell Memorial, was postponed because of inclement weather.

Wellsville has three outstanding lettermen it's building its squad around.

Ron Daniels will compete in the mile for the Tigers. He finished fifth in the Columbiana County meet last year with a time of 4:52. He should furnish plenty of opposition for John Tarleton and Bill Carter, Salem's distance runners.

Bill Pease has been consistently doing better than 10 feet in the pole vault. Dick Brown, the Quakers hard working vaulter, can do right around the same height without too much trouble.

Terry Flesch, 6-5 senior, is a high jump specialist. He has cleared close to six-feet. There are at least four Salem boys in the same event that have done 5-6 or better.

Last year the Quakers defeated Wellsville and East Liverpool in a triangular meet. The Red and Black compiled 72 points, the Potters, 42; and the Tigers, 34.

Komives Wins Cage Scoring Title, Averaging 36.7 Points

NEW YORK (AP)—Howard (Butch) Komives, Bowling Green's hot-handed backcourt ace, is the major college basketball scoring champion.

The 6-foot-1 senior fired at a 36.7 points-per-game clip-third highest average in history—and headed a record list of seven collegians with averages of better than 30 points per-game, according to final statistics released today by the NCAA.

Nick Werkman of Seton Hall, last year's No. 1 scorer, finished second this season with a 33.2 mark.

Manny Newsome, Western Michigan, 32.7; Bill Bradley, Princeton, 32.3; Rick Barry, Miami, Fla., 32.2; Gary Bradds, Ohio State, 30.6, and Steve Thomas, Xavier, Ohio, 30.0, completed the 30-point club.

Komives vaulted from 45th position a year ago to the top spot. He capped his college career with a record 50 straight free throws in his last five games.

Only Frank Selvy, former Furman star, and ex-Utah gunner Bill McGill finished with higher season averages. Selvy averaged 41.7 points per-game in 1954 and McGill posted a 38.8 mark in 1962.

A pair of team records fell. Detroit's 96.1 scoring average erased the mark of 95.3 set by Morehead State in 1956. Davidson shot .544 from the floor, eclipsing the field goal accuracy record of .521 held by Auburn's 1960 team.

THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64

We have designs to get you in our power

Our engineers are a wily group of guys who spend most of their time dreaming up ways to win your approval. Take the Dodge Polara 500. You'd be hard-pressed to find a car that's got more going for you. Deeply-padded, contour-formed bucket seats. All-vinyl upholstery. Silt-to-silt carpeting. Padded dash. Center console. And lots of other trimmings. But that's only the half of it.

Perhaps our approach to power will further illustrate the point.

Cronin, AL President, Predicts 5-Way Battle For Loop Pennant

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP)—Chicago, Baltimore, Minnesota and Detroit will press the defending champion New York Yankees in a five-way American League pennant fight, President Joe Cronin believes.

His reasoning: All four show marked improvement while the Yankees, seeking their 14th flag in 16 years, have stood still.

The 64th campaign opens next Monday with Los Angeles in Washington. Cronin made his remarks Monday on the basis of his observations at Florida spring training camps.

"I can't predict a 10-team race as much as we would hope for one," Cronin said. "I pick the White Sox, Orioles, Twins and Tigers as the leading challengers to the Yankees because each has decidedly improved."

"The Yankees are still the Yankees. Their defense is as good as ever under new Manager Yogi Berra. But I didn't see Mickey Mantle step out. He's still favoring the knee on which he had the operation. Roger Maris wasn't doing much."

"The biggest New York concern is pitching—namely solid help for Whitey Ford, Jim Bouton and Al Downing. The problem is not the eight men on the field, its on the mound and in the bullpen."

The Cronin analysis of the four challengers:

Chicago—"Al Lopez is the most optimistic manager down there. In switchhitting Don Buford up from Indianapolis, the White Sox have a mature, 27-year old rookie second baseman who can fly and made the trade of Nellie Fox possible. The Sox have good speed and more pitching help in the big rookie, Fritz Ackley."

Baltimore—"Hank Bauer has instilled a lot of aggressiveness in the lineup. He's got the club hustling. I think shortstop Luis Aparicio is in for a really great year. Bauer is making him the take-charge guy and Aparicio is taking hold very well. He's the one who runs in to the pitcher now."

Minnesota—"The team has a lot of tools. It is more mature now and looks the part. I was impressed by that young pitcher, Jerry Arigo. Sam Mele is looking better at second. Zoilo Versalles is just terrific at short, continually making the big plays."

Detroit—"The line-up is much better looking with Jerry Lumpe at second base. He has helped Dick McAuliffe immeasurably. Don Demeter and Billy Bruton help in the outfield. Al Kaline wasn't hitting well this spring but that's no cause for concern because everyone knows what he can do. A great deal depends on the bat of Norm Cash and pitching."

The race—"I think it will be better as a result of the Dodgers beating New York in the World Series. Some of the teams who thought the Yankees were invincible may change their thinking."

Best Of Five Games Events Starts Tonight Barons Open Playoff Series With Hershey In Cleveland

Riding roughshod over the Rochester Americans on the strength of a great team performance and the individual brilliance of center Joe Szura, the Cleveland Barons stormed through their opening American Hockey League Calder Cup series and qualified to meet the Hershey Bears in the semi-finals.

The Cleveland-Hershey series will open at the Cleveland Arena on Tuesday, April 7, and Thursday, April 9. The scene will shift to Hershey for the third game on Saturday, April 11, and the fourth on Tuesday, April 14, should it be necessary. The fifth game, if required, will be played in Cleveland on Wednesday, April 15.

The Cleveland-Hershey winner will qualify to meet the winner of the Quebec Aces - Pittsburgh Hornets series in the Calder Cup finals.

Prior to tumbling before the inspired Barons in two straight games, Rochester had been the hottest club in the American Hockey League. The Amerks' fall before the Barons must be classed as a major upset.

It was SZURA who led the way to a thrilling 6-3 conquest over the Amerks in Rochester on April 1, registering the first "hat trick" of his professional career and accumulating a total of five points as he added two assists to his three goals.

Again it was Szura who starred in a 4-1 victory over Rochester in Cleveland on April 4, the lanky 25-year-old center pouring three more goals past the Rochester defenses. While the record books do not specifically show it, it is believed that Szura's consecutive game "hat tricks" constitute an AHL playoff record.

While Szura was the big gun of the Barons' attack, his was only one of many fine performances turned in by Cleveland players.

Not enough can be said in praise of little Jean-Guy Morissette, the pint-sized goalie who is so ably filling the shoes of the injured Les Binkley. Morissette, in permitting only four goals in two games against the Amerks, throttled one of the most explosive attacks in the AHL.

Morissette received excellent protection from a stout defense made appreciably stronger by the addition of the veteran Larry Zeidel. Zeidel took a regular turn in the Rochester games, lending experience and poise to the previously short-handed Barons defense that struggled through much of the season with only four healthy members.

With Szura picking up six goals, his linemates, Ray Kinasevich and Ray Brunel, quite naturally also profited in the scoring column.

The other two lines back-checked brilliantly and continually put the beleaguered Rochester goalie, Gerry Cheevers, on the defensive.

PLAYING-COACH Fred Glover was especially effective, steering in the first Barons goal in the opening game at Rochester and setting up linemate Jim Mikol for a clean goal in the second game in Cleveland.

The presence of Zeidel on the Barons roster lends considerable lustre to the coming Hershey

Rain Will Favor Long-Ball Hitters In Masters Tourney

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—With every drop of rain, the Augusta National Golf Course grew longer, and the field for the Masters got smaller.

"This course always favors the long hitter," said veteran Byron Nelson. "And with a soaking rain, it favors the man who hits the ball a long way in the air. That's Jack Nicklaus."

"The rain cuts the field of players with a good chance down to only four or five," said the even more veteran Gene Sarazen. "Nicklaus, and just a handful of others: Arnold Palmer, old Sam Snead, maybe. And among the youngsters, Rex Baxter and Jack Rule."

Nicklaus, the 24-year-old Golden Bear who last year was the youngest player ever to win the Masters, looked at the steady downpour Monday and admitted it didn't hurt chances to be the first player ever to repeat.

"This is just wonderful for me," he said.

Rain is expected to continue off and on through Wednesday, according to the Weather Bureau, although it is hoped the course will be fit for practice rounds today. It was closed before noon Monday.

The tournament opens Thursday, and it seems highly unlikely there will be enough sunshine to put any roll back into the lush fairways.

Nicklaus was asked if he thought a wet course would turn the tournament into a Nicklaus-Palmer battle.

"I certainly hope so," Nicklaus said, "because that would mean that I would be right up there. Arnold is just about ready to start playing his best golf. He's hitting his ball as far as I've ever seen him hit it."

Palmer, the Masters winner in 1958, 1960 and 1962, agreed that he is driving in the Nicklaus range. "I'm happy about my driving, and I feel my irons are a little better," he said. "I've been playing pretty well, and I feel better coming into this tournament than I have for three or four years."

MacArthur: 'A True Believer In Himself'

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur was not a simple man. He was romantic, but tough; eloquent, but sentimental; charming, but austere; but suspicious.

He felt some people, besides Communists, were his enemies conspiring against him. Because he so often wished his views to prevail, he was some times hard to get along with. One writer, Richard Rovere, said MacArthur was a "true believer in himself" and found it "necessary to ascribe his disappointments . . . to base intrigues."

Although Gen. John J. Pershing, MacArthur's top commander in World War I, decorated him, the New York Times says Pershing told him: "Young man, I do not like your attitude."

Arthur Schlesinger Jr., in his history of the New Deal, says President Franklin D. Roosevelt thought MacArthur dangerous. If so, he nevertheless made him his chief of staff, commander in the Pacific, and gave him the Medal of Honor.

The Washington Post's military editor, John G. Norris, reports that when Maj. Dwight D. Eisenhower served under MacArthur in the Philippines in 1935 they had differences of opinion and Eisenhower returned home.

President Harry S. Truman dismissed MacArthur from his Korean command in 1951 for what he considered insubordination by publicly airing his views on how to win the war, contrary to Truman's orders and policies. The final straw was when MacArthur wrote to a congressman.

But Norris points out MacArthur fought general headquarters when he was a hero of World War I in Europe. When Pershing crossed him, Norris says, word "was gotten back to interested congressmen and Gen. Pershing's plans were killed."

When the second volume of Truman's memoirs appeared in 1956, explaining why he fired MacArthur, the general said the former president "did violence to the truth" and was "vengeful."

But MacArthur saw intrigue in his dismissal. He said it happened after he had demanded prosecution of a spy ring which was getting top secret military plans sent to Washington from his Korean command.

He said he thought Gen. George C. Marshall, then secretary of defense, and Gen. Omar Bradley, then chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, were "personally hostile to me" and that the enmity went back some time.

Yet, Truman's record of his conversations with MacArthur at Wake Island six months before his dismissal quotes the general as saying: "No commander in the history of war ever had more complete and adequate support from all agencies

'FIRE CHIEF' — Former President Eisenhower, in Los Angeles, Calif., for a Republican "party-to-people" forum, wears fire chief's hat after being named honorary boss of city's firemen. He was cited as a "global fire fighter."

trigues supposedly working against the general.

Whitney, who was with MacArthur when he died last Sunday, put together a 547-page justification of what MacArthur did or didn't do in a book called: "MacArthur: His Rendezvous With History."

He said "Communists and their dupes" found "an ally in the 'Europe-first clique in the War and State Departments at the outbreak of World War II' in an attempt to discredit the general "in every way and thwart his efforts against the enemy."

In 1932 MacArthur was widely criticized for leading — in full uniform and on a white horse — regular troops and tanks ordered by President Herbert Hoover to oust the "bonus army" veterans of World War I who had holed up in shacks on the outskirts of Washington.

Whitney's explanation: The veterans were infiltrated with Communists who wanted to create mob violence against the government. He writes of a "captured secret document in which the Communists planned to hang high government officials," with MacArthur heading the list.

MacArthur, when the storm broke over him, said the "mob was a bad-looking mob. It was animated by the essence of revolution."

TV Stations Search for Recognition

NEW YORK (AP)—Commercial television is often accused of playing a "numbers game" with its reliance on ratings when it comes to keeping or killing shows. It seems that a large segment of the viewing audience quietly plays a little numbers game of its own.

This is a game the major networks and the independent stations alike deplore. In spite of all the promotion designed to establish a station or network identity—the CBS eye, the NBC peacock, the call letters flashed on the screens at every station—break time—a large percentage of the audience persists in identifying a station merely by its channel number on the dial.

A television chain recently confirmed this through an audience research project. Almost any viewer could have predicted the outcome of the study.

This is distressing to the industry for several reasons. Individual stations and networks work hard to establish attractive images in the minds of viewers. One New York station always announces its call letters and adds "your community-minded station." Others are "station of the stars," "The news-minded station" and so on.

The networks are particularly eager to create vivid and pleasing identities. A viewer who isn't exactly sure where his favorite show can be seen is likely to sample shows on all working channels in his hunt for it. Sometimes he likes what he samples—and never reaches the program he set out to find.

The series about psychiatry—NBC's "11th Hour" and ABC's "Breaking point" — failed to carry the kind of impact that made "Dr. Kildare" and "Ben Casey" big hits, so both will disappear at this season's end.

Recommended tonight: Telephone Hour, NBC, 10-11 (EST)—Ginger Rogers is hostess and soloists include Hoagy Carmichael and Helen O'Connell.
